CINCINNATI. Dec. 2.—That he will make special efforts to see that uninterested men be appointed to the positions on the staff of the national commission, which will pick the men to do the scoring for both leagues next year, is the statement made yesterday by Chairman Herrmann of the national commission. He says that if it is decided at the winter meeting to appoint this staff, he will try to have the National league scorers chosen from Detroit. Cleveland, Washington and a smaller city, and that those for the American league will be selected from Pittsburg, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and a city not in either league. He says he thinks $2500 will be about the salary to which they will be men from whom the fans can secure a satisfactory ruling on all points of the game.

the defeated "hope of the white race," John L. Sulltvan is here for a short engagement in vaudeville.

Sulltvan declares that crocked fighting has practically killed the game in America and that no fair minded man can blame the authorities for putting a stop to it. He declares the only way it can be rejuvenated is for some young, strong fellow to come along, wrest the title from Johnson and thereafter fight on the square against all comers.

"To my mind," said the one-time champion, "these fellows who pull off crocked fights should be treated as they are in France and England. Once caught at the trick, they are forbidden to mix any farther in sports, and they do not. Why, I can name over 100 fights in this country which have been fixed. If fakirs were barred here by all sporting clubs, that sort of thing would noon stop."

post and the future of the giants, Muggsy McGraw hands out this line of talk.

"Last season we made more runs than any team in the National league and runs win games. To use football language, we have developed a powerful attack and now we must get to work and perfect a clever defense. The Lord is supposed to be on the side of the heaviest artillery, someone has said. Well, we have the heaviest artillery in the National league. What has been wrong with the New York team the fans know a pitching staff that could not always be depended on and an infinite capacity for making errors at the wrong momen. In time these defects will be cradicated. "When the glants are able to field at well as they can hit, watch out for us. We have a bunch of cleanup men, players who can be depended on to produce long drives when two or three men are on the bases. Some of the players who have batted in the most runs for us have also probably made the greatest number of costly errors. Still, a player can perfect himself in defensive work and it is a hard matter to find athletes who can wallop the sphere a goodly distance when men are on the base and when one or two runs are absolutely needed to change the complexion of a game."

"Stoddard-Dayton 50"

11-K Torpedo

MR. AUTOMOBILE BUYER:

How often do you hear the remark, "It is as good as a Stoddard" when a discussion starts on the relative merits of automobiles? There is a mighty good reason for it. The Stoddard has stood for years-on its merits-and forced itself to the most commanding position held by any motor car in the world today.

Those who have seen the "Stoddard-Dayton 50" declare it the best car ever produced by a factory famous for its production. The clean-cut appearance—the finish—the style—it's all there. Brake and gear shift levers, even the door handles, are all inside. Does away with the threshingmachine appearance most cars have.

It has an aluminum body. Same model did ninety-six miles an hour in the Santa Monica road race. Let us demonstrate for you.
